

Allison Middleton

Associate

Allison Middleton brings a blend of project management, precision, and finance to her role at Kurtis Smith, LLC, where she's delving into the intricate world of audits, reviews, and financial statement preparations tailored for non-profits. Previously, as a Business Manager for Denver Area Council BSA, she adeptly managed accounting intricacies for trading posts.

Her discipline and rigor stem from a commendable tenure with the U.S. Army. Serving at pivotal posts such as Fort Carson, CO, and the Landstuhl Regional Medical Center in Germany, her roles ranged from leading intensive medical training sessions to innovating inventory processes. Her meticulous nature ensured smooth outpatient clinic operations, and her ability to maintain patient-provider communication while upholding privacy standards made her an indispensable asset.

Additionally, Allison's academic journey speaks volumes of her commitment to continual learning. While her B.S. in Project Management from Colorado State University laid the groundwork, her M.B.A. in Finance at the University of Colorado – Colorado Springs is a testament to her drive to scale new heights. In essence, Allison Middleton's professional and academic journeys culminate into a narrative of dedication, precision, and an unwavering commitment to excellence, making her a standout member of the Kurtis Smith LLC ensemble.
